

MDL Partners Announce New Service Offering for Entrepreneurs

WELLESLEY, MA; HARTFORD AND STAMFORD, CT; WASHINGTON DC...

MDL Partners, a firm providing outplacement and career consulting services to thousands of clients around the globe, has recently announced a new service offering that caters to executives who would like to consider, or already are considering, the entrepreneurial option.

Entrepreneurs, business owners and executives who have participated in or led ventures which have been sold, gone public, restructured or simply grown too large may also be seeking new entrepreneurial opportunities. MDL Partners helps these executives through the entrepreneurial decision; reduces the personal, professional, and financial risk; and increases the likelihood of substantial entrepreneurial reward.

MDL Partners provides:

- Professional advice and guidance
- Personal and professional assessment of a potential entrepreneur's skills, financial resources and risk tolerance
- Identification of entrepreneurial opportunities
- Business planning
- Ongoing consultation and guidance, review and recommendations

"Many executives with successful track records in larger corporations realize that job security derived from the size and stability of the company no longer really exists. They have developed the skills and desire to 'run their own show' and now see the entrepreneurial option in a much more favorable light," explained Tom McNeil, the company's president.

He continued, "As a successful entrepreneurial venture itself, MDL Partners helps entrepreneurs identify the best opportunities and then build upon them."
